▲ Therapeutic Bathtub Collection

In creating the Ora collection of therapeutic baths from BainUltra, designers used a silhouette that evokes the movement of water rippling in circles across the surface of a pond. The freestanding bath features an integrated headrest and back support with a gentle arch that naturally positions the shoulders slightly forward. The unit's depth permits total immersion, and the deck thickness facilitates getting in and out of the tub easily. The collection is offered in the company's Thermomasseur air jet thermomassage system and ThermaSens, which combines aromatherapy, chromatherapy and thermotherapy.
