

True Traditional

KITCHEN
SOURCEBOOK

A longtime antiques dealer, Bonnie took an active role in planning the kitchen.

Tradition reigns in the home of Bonnie MacNaughton, a long-standing antiques dealer at the Stalls on Bennett Street. So she and husband John wanted a kitchen that would blend with the rest of their Norman Askins-renovated Buckhead residence.

Consulting with longtime Design Galleria Kitchen & Bath Studio guru Laurie Lechrich, the couple decided on a warm, cozy Old World look for the cooking space. "It's small but efficient. It's an embracing space," Laurie says.

The scheme incorporated colors from Bonnie's existing patterned wallpaper, a design component she was determined to save. "I have very particular tastes, so I wanted to find colors that would work," says the homeowner, who personally picked the Taj Majal quartzite at Marmi Natural Stone for the countertops. She sourced the square tiles of the backsplash—an unexpected alternative to more industrial subway tile, especially due to their diagonal orientation—from Renaissance Tile & Bath.

Anchoring the room is another MacNaughton must-have: a reclaimed wood island. Presiding over a well-worn Oriental rug and original oak floors, it commands almost as much attention as the classic La Cornue range. "I love the little doors," Bonnie says. "It allows me to essentially have two ovens without a huge door swing." To complement a nearby limestone fireplace, contractor Paul Timoney fashioned hearth-like masonry to frame the high-end appliance, then crowned it with a reclaimed barn beam.

Well-equipped William Oh's cabinetry more than makes up for the wall space lost to the ornate brickwork. The creamy white door fronts are punctuated with weathered bronze hardware. Bonnie's collection of copper pots also adds character to the room's warm finishes.

STYLING BY ALLYSON BRADBERRY

Elaborate brickwork adds even more character to the elegant La Cornue range.

Antique brass hardware, white brick, and weathered wood are classic finishes sure to endure.

GET THE LOOK

GIVE YOUR KITCHEN TIMELESS CHARACTER WITH THESE CLASSIC PRODUCTS.

➔ Canterbury, price varies depending on selection, European Sink, 2655 Buford Highway, 770-936-0512, europeansinkatlanta.com

➔ Sultanabad rug 7618 in wool/silk, $65 per square foot, Verde Home, 999 Brady Avenue, 678-927-9113, verdehomeinc.com

➔ Old butcher-block table, $3,800, Foxglove Antiques, 699 Miami Circle, 404-233-0222, foxgloveantiques.com

➔ AGA Dual-Control 3-oven natural gas in claret, $10,899, Creekstone Cookers, 404-295-4453, creekstonecookers.com

➔ Restoration Hardware Rust bail pull, $24 each, Restoration Hardware, 3030 Peachtree Road, 770-804-9040, rh.com

PRO RESOURCES

KITCHEN DESIGN Design Galleria, ADAC, 404-261-0111, designgalleria.net. For more information, turn to page 122.